

Warning Reference Telephone Solicitation

The San Marino Police Department has recently received inquiries about telephone solicitors who claim to represent the San Marino Police Department. In fact, these solicitors are not associated with the San Marino Police Department or the San Marino Police Officers' Association.

The only solicitation the San Marino Police Officers' Association does perform is an annual mailing, which was distributed earlier this year.

Residents should be highly suspect of any telephone call or other solicitation from someone representing themselves or their organization as being associated with the San Marino Police Department or the San Marino Police Officers' Association. While the decision is ultimately your own on how to respond to such requests, you should know that there is a great deal of misrepresentation and fraud associated with these types of solicitations.

If you have questions or suspicions about such solicitations please contact the San Marino Police Department at (626) 300-0720.
